

SURF LIFE SAVING
NEW SOUTH WALES

Your Skills Save Lives

Get involved with your local Surf Club this summer

Your Skills Save Lives

Surf Life Saving offers roles and activities for everyone. There are 129 Surf Life Saving Clubs dotted along the NSW coastline.

We offer all Australians the opportunity to live an active lifestyle and get involved with Surf Life Saving.

Not everyone in Surf Life Saving is a fantastic swimmer. Many of our members play vital roles patrolling the beach without ever getting in the water!

As an award member you will assist in keeping Surf Life Saving operating smoothly at a local Club level. Award Members are part of a patrol team, contributing in their specialist area without getting their toes wet.

Opportunities to contribute

Experience in First Aid? First aiders manage emergency situations and deliver competent emergency care until the arrival of professional medical support.

Do you have a voice for radio? Radio Operators can work on patrol or in our Communications Centres. SurfCom operators coordinate emergency services (police, fire, ambulance) providing prompt response & support to our clubs during incidents.

The possibilities are endless and whether you have loads of experience or none at all, your skills are valuable to us.

How do I get involved?

- Choose an Award that suits you by checking out our Pathways booklet. This can be found at www.surflifesaving.com.au/members
- Contact and visit your local Club, talk to the Club Captain or Administrator about getting involved
- For further information contact Surf Life Saving NSW on (02) 9471 8000